The Grapevine

Winter

The other day at our staff meeting we had a lovely talk from Jenny Speedy, who along with Jo Doig, is responsible for keeping our gardens so beautiful and many of our students green fingered. Jenny described some of the 'life' of the garden at present: what is happening within the Earth, with crystallising and mineralising forces hard at work; and also, what she and Jo are doing alongside it on the outside, such as 'tree-paste' applications on the trunks of Scannel's green guardians.

It was a nice, gentle picture of the workings of Mother Nature, (and her friends), and a good reminder to take into account all of what is going on around us in this season.

At present, Class 7 are in the early stages of a main lesson on Astronomy: another good reason to get outside and think about the world in a different way. We have been talking about the Universe: the billions and billions of stars; the enormous distances between galaxies scattered as pollen across interstellar space; the vast clouds of gas floating in the dark like Hinepūkohurangi, (the mist maiden) forming suns and solar systems; and the creation itself, our science-based Big Bang mirroring so perfectly the ancient, wisdom-filled vision from Maori, of Te Kore (the Void) - Te Po (the Dark) - and Te Ao Marama (the Light).

A lecture from Steiner in "The Symphony of the Creative World" ties these two beautiful, seasonal and stellar pictures together. Plants, he says, gather the secrets of the Universe and let them trickle down into their roots during this time, as they whisper what has come from Light and Heat and Air and Water in the play of stem and leaf and flower and what the distant stars have created in their forms. These things trickle down through the roots and are taken up by the spiritual beings you might call gnomes, who then bear within them the ideas of the whole Universe as they stream and wander through ore and rock and mineral. This is Winter work indeed. The secrets of the cold stars brought to form, crystallising within our Earth: the microcosm of the macrocosm!

Winter Festivals

Wednesday 21 June Day of the Solstice

The High School Festival for winter will take place during the day. It is celebrated in the hall with a world map, candles, a talk and thoughts of a global nature. This year Class Seven will be joining them rather than the Lower School. A hangi for lunch will then be shared by all the High school classes and their teachers. Class Seven will return to their room for their own shared lunch.

The Lower School Lantern Festival starts at 6.30 that night. Classes One to Six.

It has a slightly different look than in years passed. This year we ask that all children are dropped off at their classes and parents make their way to the big field outside the gym. (Inside the gym if it is wet.) You will be directed to make a large circle around a spiral on the ground and there you will await the classes. Following a bell at 6.45, the children will come from their rooms, lanterns lit, and walk to the field in long lines and, all going well, will form two large concentric circles within the parent circle. We will start with a community song (see attached page to bring that night). We will then hear songs or music from Classes four, five and six. There will then be two more community songs. While this music is going on, the inner-most circle of Classes One, Two and both groups of Class Three students will be walking the spiral in pairs. This is their chance to 'meet' a moment in the darkest night of the year with a little help from their lantern and lots of help from the rest of us.

When everyone is finished and we have sung our lusty songs long enough, the inner most circle of young classes will be directed to move out and around the outside of the parent circle following a teacher. This is your chance to gently grab hold of your own wandering child/children as they pass, so by the time their teachers have made a full circuit, everyone will be accounted for and back in your loving arms. When that is finished, Classes Four, Five and Six will do the same on the inside of the parent circle. When completed, we encourage you to make your way carefully and quietly back to cars and home, saving the magic of the light and sound and spiral, to talk about over hot chocolate and a biscuit in the warmth of home!

Students to Classes, parents to field: 6.30pm
Circles and spiral songs: 6.55pm

Lanterns lit, walk starts: 6.45pm
End and home for a treat by: 7.30pm

If wet, we will have the spiral in the gym.

Festival Songs

Rise up oh flame, by thy light glowing.
Show to us beauty, vision and joy.

When days are darkest the Earth enshrines the seed of Summer's birth
The Spirit of God is a light shines, deep in the darkness of Earth.

All praise to Thee, my God, this night, for all the blessings of the light;
Keep me, oh keep me, King of Kings, beneath Thine Own Almighty wings.

Friday Market

Dear Community, last Friday a group of interested parents met to discuss the Friday Market and what, as a community did we want for this weekly event. I want to thank all those who attended. A fruitful discussion was had, and as always when people get together new ideas start to bubble.

This meeting also provided an opportunity to look back with gratitude at the previous groups and persons who have held this market space. These groups and persons, have created a weekly experience which our Lower School children look forward to with much anticipation. Nga mihi mahana ki a koutou..

From this meeting it was decided that baked goods would remain rostered to ensure some continuity for the children. At the end of each term there will be an opportunity for classes to roster themselves onto the weekly baked goods stall. This pre-organisation will give classes plenty of time to consider what they can or cannot manage. All other stalls would be welcome with no rostering necessary. Thus if you have an abundance in your garden one week and wish to share in support of your class, Kei te pai, welcome. More detailed organisation points and minutes from this meeting will be communicated via liaison parents to classes.

Matariki

Mānawa maiea te putanga o Matariki
Mānawa maiea te ariki o te rangi
Mānawa maiea te mātahi o te tau!

Hail the rise of Matariki
Hail the Lord of the sky
Hail the New Year!

Yes, Matariki has risen, and in Te Ao Māori it was a time to; reflect on the past year, remembrance of those who have passed on, for whānau to be together, sharing of kai, and giving thanks. To celebrate Matariki there are a number of events that the classes are taking part in, and other events that the wider community can join in if you wish to!

Last week we had Whaea Tracy come in and share with the Lower School classes a story about Matariki, alongside an activity of making whetū. This week a number of classes have helped with the installation of 'Te Kāhui o Matariki' that is in the school foyer. The installation is a combination of whetū (stars), the story of 'Mātariki – Ngā mata o te ariki Tāwhirimātea – The eyes of the god Tāwhirimātea' and 9 whetū in particular that are mentioned with their specific attributes of this constellation. There is a Eurythmy performance this week for the school that tells about the tears of Tāwhirimātea. Other classes are making rewana bread, and looking at other activities to acknowledge this time.

- Next week there is going to be a 'Harvest table – Kua hauhakea' set up in the foyer for gifts that can be brought to school and placed there over that week. On Friday this food will be gathered and it will be donated to the Foodbank for families in need.
- On the Friday the 23 of June, I will be holding a 'Fun with Flax' workshop, looking at making simple taonga with harakeke that you can do with your tamariki. This workshop will run from 9 – 10.30 a.m
- Lastly on Friday the 30 of June at 6 a.min the morning, one of our school parents; Nathan Foote, who was the leading carver for the pou that make up the 'Celestial Star Compass' at Waitangi Reserve, which is the first turn on the right as you go past Hohepa Farm heading towards Napier. They will give a talk about these whakairo and what they represent, and Piripi Smith the Celestial Navigator for the double hulled waka – Te Matau-a-Māui, will also give a talk about Ngā whetū – The stars. There will be koha (donation of money) collected from those gathered to gift to Nathan and Piripi. If it is raining it will be cancelled.

No reira, ngā mihi mahana ki a koutou!

Music

The HB Secondary Schools Chamber Music competition final was held this week. Congratulations to our Taikura group JAMZ with Amy Gilbert on flute, Miru Shimaoka and Zach Marshall playing violins and Jacob Grupp on the piano. Miru is also playing in a combined schools group. Both these groups gave admirable performances at the Hastings Musical Society on Sunday afternoon.

We are very excited at the possibility of having an original piece of music being written by Stephen Lang for a Taikura group next year. Please contact Frances with any suggestions or questions about this.

The cello students are very excited after their first lesson with Hilary Baker last week. We have cellos in different sizes if anyone is interested in learning either this year or looking towards next year. Maybe a trial term to check out suitability?

Thank you Frances

Finance Update

Attendance Dues

Our Attendance Dues committee was formed this year to follow up dues and to review how our processes have run with our first roll out of Attendance Dues. The committee consists of the Pippa Caccioppoli, Sue Simpson, Aimee Hawke and myself.

In our April Grapevine, we wrote that meetings would occur with families who have not paid their dues and have returned their Condition of Enrolment forms. We sent these letters to 28 families. Of these families we had payments made by 20 families and we met with the remaining eight families. We can confirm that we have received a payment from all of these families, however we have used the last line of our policy in some circumstances.

We are continuing to monitor payments. We will be sending letters to families who do not keep to agreed arrangements. For those families paying on a quarterly basis, a reminder that the third instalment is due 31 July 2017.

The follow up of Attendance Dues has been an intensive process, involving many hours of speaking to and writing to families. For me, it has been a great way to meet and to get to know families. We appreciate the patience of families that have committed to Attendance Dues from the start of the year as we align all families to the fee structure.

Condition of Enrolment Forms

In March we had 158 families who were still to return their Condition of Enrolment forms. We have sent letters this week to twenty nine families to return Condition of Enrolment forms. We are expecting 100% return of these forms.

Bank accounts

A reminder about our bank accounts, we have separate bank accounts for the Trust and the School Board of Trustees

Our Trust bank account is 03-1518-0040482-00 (Attendance Dues and donations)

Our School BOT bank account is 03-1518-0035763-00 (Sundries and camp)

We have some payments that are being made into the incorrect account and this takes considerable time to transfer between accounts. If you have a few minutes to spare, please check your payments and ensure they are being made to the correct bank account.

Hours of Work

I am available in the office, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Fridays from 9:00 am to 2:00 pm. If you would like to meet with me, please call in to the office on any of these days. Alternatively my email address is selena.crouch@taikura.school.nz

Cost: $160*

Professional Development & food

While it is easy to say that our past experiences determine who we are and the kind of person we have become; it is harder to accept that we have the power to determine who and how we will be. This innovative workshop provides easily integrating tools to understanding our relationship with ourselves, our family, loved ones and the wider world. The Self-Love approach gives skills that work, that are easily integrated into daily life practices and compliment other therapeutic approaches. Bhavna will be presenting this approach.

In this workshop, Bhavna will introduce you to this novel approach to working with clients. The workshop will include theory as well as mindfulness practices so that participants can get a personal experience of the approach before introducing it to clients. You will be introduced to the self-love theory and practical tools to help clients to regain their self-love/worth. This workshop is suitable for anyone working within the mental health or guiding others - namely

Registrations: contact Bhavna@alivepsych.co.nz 022 0843 095

Bhavna will be presenting this psychological approach as a workshop at the NZCCP Conference in Queenstown on Saturday 29 July AND as a paper at the the NZPsS Conference on the 1st September in Christchurch

Bhavna is a clinical psychologist with 16 years of both clinical and mindfulness experience. She is originally from South Africa and has been in New Zealand since 2008. Since 2009 she has been using Mindfulness-based therapy and the Self-Love approach evolved out of that work. In 2012, she started her own practice- Alive! Psychology- a name that reflects her passion for life. Through therapy and mindfulness she found her passion for life and discovered the ability to live life fully with all that it has to offer - the good and the bad. This is the focus of the Self-Love Approach - to live fully, authentically, enabling clients to find their way of reconnecting with life and expressing who they are fully.
