Pippa's Pānui

This week we celebrate our Spring Festival and it is wonderful to be able to open our gates and welcome our parents and whānau to join us for this celebration of the new season. This term, like this year as a whole, continues to be challenging at school. A number of evenings, camps, sports, day trips and weekly school activities have had to be either cancelled, postponed or a new format has had to be found in order to comply with the national Alert Levels. For many of our students, staff and parents the uncertainty and disruption has impacted life outside of school also. The arrival of spring, which is heralded by the blossoms, new growth, warmer and longer days is a timely reminder that, despite the uncertainty and disruption, the rhythm of the year keeps moving.

Last Saturday Class 12 students presented their Class 12 Project speeches. These speeches were delivered with humour, enthusiasm, confidence, relief and a sprinkling of nerves. Like the seasons, these projects have a rhythm within our school year, a breathing in and out and the presentation of the speeches is the culmination of nearly a twelve-month process. The projects provide a moment to pause and acknowledge our students, to acknowledge the journey these students have been on, not just through their project but their educational journey also. The projects provide an opportunity to see the individuals in the class emerging as they begin to prepare for the next stage in their journey that will take them beyond Taikura. While the projects are a cause for celebration students have little time to pause and reflect as the completion of this task does not symbolise an end point but rather marks the first step of the transition towards graduation. For Class 12, Term Four includes exams, the end of their formal assessment, their final class camp, cushion concert, prize giving, graduation dinner and the carol evening, all of which are significant milestones in marking the end of their twelve-year journey.

While the final term of the year is significant for our graduating students it is also a busy time across our school and kindergartens. A number of classes have camps planned, summer sports get underway, our senior students complete their qualification requirements for the NZ Certificate in Steiner Education, our Annual Plan is reviewed and planning begins for 2021 and preparations get underway to support the transition from kindergarten to school for our six year olds. As a community plans are underway for our annual Fete, we will be in touch early next term around a community meeting and we look forward to coming together to celebrate at our Carol Evening at the end of the year.

Over the coming holiday break my wish is that our staff and students are able to take a complete break from school. For some this may involve switching off and disconnecting devices and picking up a good book or a paintbrush or heading outside in the spring sunshine, either to explore our beautiful country or get our hands dirty in our own back yard. For some it may be finding some quiet time while for others it may be about connecting with friends and whānau. Equally it could be a combination of all of the above.

I wish you all a wonderful holiday and look forward to welcoming you back next term.

Principal

He pito kōrero!

“Kua rongo kōrero koe...? Did you hear...?”

Kia ora koutou, have you heard that there is a new te reo Māori app that was released last week in time for Te wiki o Te Reo Māori, and it is FREE! Te Ara Poutama, the faculty of Māori and indigenous development and the altLAB at Auckland University of Technology have developed an app to promote the spoken language of Aotearoa.

Kōrerorero, meaning conversations, is an interactive learning tool developed to teach te reo Māori through listening, repetition and learning vocabulary and phrases that can be easily introduced into real life situations!

Kīwaha o tēnei wāhanga – Kīwaha shared this term

Kua eke	I've had enough to eat (or, no more to add to the discussion)
Na te rehe	You've got skills! (When making things with your hands)
Kia mau ki te aka matua!	Stick to the main point!
Inē?!	Is that right?! (Surprise reaction)
Haere tonu	Keep going
Nā rawa	That's amazing, how amazing.

Te Wiki o Te Reo In Kindergarten

Te Wiki o Te Reo Māori was celebrated last week in Aotearoa, New Zealand. Our kindergartens celebrate and weave Te reo Māori into the daily life and rhythm of the kindergarten. Te Reo Māori and our School/Kindergarten tikanga Māori is used by teachers through waiata, phrases and words used with tamariki.

Last week our kindergartens joined in celebrating Te Wiki o te reo Māori alongside ongoing kōrero and waiata by joining the National moment celebrating Te Reo Māori, which happened at midday on Monday.

Kereru kindergarten were able to see and join the "big school tamariki and ngā kaikao" from the garden and joined in with their waiata.

At Taikura kindergarten our tamariki and ngā kaiako gathered in the shade of the rākau and sang a few waiata together. one of them being:

He Manu iti iti,
kei runga i te rakau

Enlivening Breathing Eurythmy Sessions for Adults

In this time of uncertainty and limitations, it is helpful to take time each day to centre ourselves and find that quiet inner space in the whirlwind of life. For some this is through contemplation and meditation, for others through movement.

Following on from the work of this term, I will be offering an evening course for those busy work parents who cannot free themselves during the day but would like to do eurythmy in term four. Continuing with the theme of 'enlivening breathing', people can join either group with little or no experience of eurythmy. Eurythmy can bring vitality to life and strengthen the soul life.

Commencing Tuesday 13 October at 7:00- 8:00 pm
Steiner Centre corner Nelson Street and Whitehead Road

Commencing Thursday 15 October at 8:30-9:30 am
Taruna College, Te Mata Peak Road, Havelock North

Both of the courses will run for 5 – 6 weeks, with a couple of interruptions due to prior engagements. Registrations are now open and I will confirm dates and costs on registration.
